EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 11

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional Adjournment Ending

WASHINGTON June 11 — evening Chandler declined the offer of the Secretaryship but will support the resolution in pursuance with an agreement made early in November last in a letter at New York between a prominent Senator formerly a Republican and a prominent Democratic Senator formerly a Republican and a prominent Democratic Senator (name) Tilden of New York and other Democrats he could name, to the effect that a new party should be formed during this session Democrats should keep quiet and disconcerted Republicans do the talking and he further ascertained that a Republican Senator should be the nominee of the new party for the Presidency

Fenton wanted Chandler to name the Senators to whom he referred and Chandler declining (Fenton) said he did not believe a word of the statement

Casserly said he had spoken with other Democrats on the floor and there was not a word of truth in the statement

Chandler repeated the statement and insisted on its accuracy though he chose not to name the Senators referred

The Senate refused to take up the conference report on the Steam boat Bill

The Ohio river Bridge Bill was taken up and discussed until the House message was received announcing the disagreement of the conference on the Sundry Civil Expenses Appropriation Bill and asking a new conference It was agreed to and the same committee appointed

The bill passed and the Senate went into executive session and remained half an hour when open session was resumed

The bill to remove the political disabilities of ex-Gov Vance of North Carolina and 500 others was passed 16 to 2

In the House a resolution extending the session was agreed to

The report of the Conference Committee on the sundry civil revenue appropriation bill was received and concurred in, when a recess was taken till 8 P M

On re-assembling the House bill abolishing the franking privilege was received Trumbull moved to put it on its passage but objection was made and the Senate then went into executive session and remained a few minutes when open session was resumed but nothing done and at 9 o'clock presiding officer Anthony pro tem of the Senate adjourned without delay

The House met at 8 o'clock this morning

Garfield presented the Conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill Agreed to Adhere to and to recede could be given to such report and the Speaker stated that the Conference report would be a precedent The report was accordingly made Democrats immediately commenced filibustering in order to defeat action When the report came in Kelly moved to recommit the Conference report and to appeal each question and the policy of draining the bill through by mere force of numbers after a storm of discussion The motion to recommit was carried 97 to 89 After Kelly's motion to recommit was carried Garfield opposed the motion in a speech severely denouncing the course of the minority in opposing the enforcement amendment and declaring it was a question whether a majority or minority should rule He said he never would compromise with the opposition on the demand that the enforcement act amendment be stricken from the bill Brooks insisted that the enforcement act was unconstitutional

Bingham said the pretense of unconstitutionality was the inauguration of treason as dishonorable as that of twelve years ago

At this Morgan shouted out that the statement was false

A scene of great excitement and confusion followed As soon as Bingham could make himself heard he repeated the statement and declared the course of the opposition was disgraceful, dishonorable and treasonable

Morgan, rising in great excitement amid cries of order and incessant hammering of the Speaker denounced Bingham's statement as a lie—a scandalous calumny Gesticulating excitedly he repeated It is a lie, and I will thrust it down your throat, and will allow no man to make such a charge against my colleagues"

Bingham was permitted to close his remarks

Kelley closed the debate, saying it was his conviction that this method of passing any law however wise was a most dangerous one, for which the Republican party ought not to make itself responsible

Kelley's motion was then agreed to 2 to 1

The bill giving the wife of General Anderson ten thousand dollars passed and was passed

A recess was then taken till 8 P M

The bill abolishing the franking privilege after the first of September passed under a suspension of the rules

A message was received announcing that the Senate had concurred in the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill The report was adopted in the House by a party vote, except that of Farnsworth who voted with the majority

The Senate by resolution compliments to the Speaker, which was adopted unanimously

At 9 o'clock the Speaker declared the House adjourned for the second session of the 42d Congress

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES

The Treaty Once More

NEW YORK June 11 — A Washington special says there was failure of the Treaty of Washington so far as it relates to the Alabama claims and that when Secretary Fish showed the President Minister Schenck's dispatch with Earl Granville's note, relative to the matter of disposing of the business of arbitration on the 15th inst and to the pretensions of the British Government in their own language, Minister Schenck was instructed in regard to the abandonment of arbitration to state to the British Government that we decline to join in any application for an adjournment if moved by Granville. If the latter desires to withdraw from the arbitration, she must do so without asking the consent of this Government. If such notice of withdrawal, as Granville suggests, is given, it will be the duty of the American counsel to reply to it directly in such terms of self respect as may be necessary. Bancroft Davis has been instructed in accordance with the foregoing

Enjoying a Vacation

The President with his family, goes to Long Branch to day, and Secretary Boutwell has gone to Stratton

Indiana Democratic Convention

INDIANAPOLIS, June 11 — There is already a great gathering of politicians here to attend the Democratic State Convention which meets to morrow In addition to Democratic politicians there are a number of Liberal Republicans here, and a joint caucus is to be held to night with a view of arranging a coalition ticket. Thomas A Hendricks positively declines the nomination for Governor, and M C. Kerr and Judge Niblack are now the most prominent candidates Mr Hendricks will be permanent Chairman of the Convention

Indorsing Greeley

MONTGOMERY, Ala, June 11 — The County Democratic Convention adopted by almost unanimous vote resolutions favorable to the indorsement of the Cincinnati ticket by State and National Conventions Similar action has been taken in nearly every county in the State where Conventions have been held

Persecution of Jews in Roumania

NEW YORK, June 11 — A London dispatch says that Earl Granville seconded by the Italian Government has proposed a conference of European Powers to consider the course to be adopted in view of the constant recurrence of barbarous outrages against the Jews in Roumania and as to the propriety of exerting a pressure on the Roumania Government to compel a cessation of such outrages

Prince Gortschakoff in replying to Earl Granville's proposal says that he sympathizes with the persecuted Jews, but apprehends that the course proposed would only excite agitation on the Eastern question and, therefore, he is not willing to enter into such a conference He proposes a joint conference not as to the Roumanian Government nor as to its intention. He thinks this would indirectly awaken the Government to some sense of its responsibility Should the reply to his proposition be unsatisfactory, he would suggest a settlement on the basis of the treaty of 1858 Prussia takes the same ground The answers of the other Powers are not yet in, but it is probable that the suggestion of Gortschakoff will be adopted.

The Custom House Affairs.

WASHINGTON, June 11 — The minority report of the New York Custom House Investigating Committee was submitted to the Senate yesterday. It dissents entirely from the views of the majority, and adduces testimony to prove that previous exactions under the general order business, after it became a monopoly in Lost and Stocking, were such that under the administration of Murphy it was a monstrous abuse and scandalous system of robbery The report at great length finds all the charges upon which the investigation was founded to be true and closes by stating that no department of the New York Custom House is free from taint and demoralization entailed by the rule of Murphy and the unfitness and incompetency of those who are placed in high positions

Mexican News.

NEW YORK June 11 — Dispatches from Mexico state that Corrello, when he attacked Monterey, had three thousand men

Since the smash in stocks on the exchange list a larger number of out citizens are investing in legitimate mining enterprises than ever before. There are sales of Eastern Nevada, Utah and California mines made here almost daily, to local or Eastern capitalists, and the demand for mills and mining machinery is steadily increasing On the other hand, all the brokers who have been accustomed to carry stocks for customers on 20 per cent margins, are, without exception, compelled to discontinue that branch of the business, owing to heavy losses by purchases made on orders from customers who did not come to time, and the banks will not loan on stocks at any figure save in very exceptional cases

Edith O Gorman, the escaped nun is now in San Francisco

Extensive preparations are being made for out door and in door organization of the great Republican ratification meeting at Platt's Hall, this evening

Nearly all the Trade's Unions of the city have now agreed upon the general plan for strikers for eight hours and the indications are that at least a number of them will demand increased wages also

Judge Joseph Rushton convicted in Monterey county of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to imprisonment for life at San Quentin, arrived here on the 7 o'clock train to day

The Democrats who are opposed to the appointment of delegates to the State Convention by the County Committee are in consultation to-night as to arrangements for a primary

A sad accident occurred this morning at the Vallejo street wharf this evening and was instantly killed

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 12 1872

A "Deliberate Falsehood" Nailed

The Herald of yesterday makes an accusation against Attorney General Williams which we happen to have the means of showing to be very far from the truth and our readers attention is called to the following The Herald's article says

Now, we have been informed by different gentlemen who heard him speak as he came down the Wallamet Valley, overland that he was at special pains to say that by the Swamp Land law passed at the last session of our Legislature, persons settled upon such lands were in great danger of losing their claims He pretended to read an extract from a letter written by Governor Grover to the Secretary of the Interior, in which he said that the Governor took the ground that settlers upon such lands must of necessity be ousted of their claims

If Attorney General Williams did this thing—and we are perfectly satisfied he did so—he can not escape the charge of deliberate falsehood, perpetrated wilfully and knowingly with a view to deceive and mislead his fellow citizens.

Now if the Herald had added to the first part of the above, after the words "ousted of their claims," the words "to lands settled upon since March 12, 1860," it would not have been far from correct in its statement of the position taken by Attorney General Williams, and the purpose of this article is to show that Judge Williams is justified in that position not only by the law, but by Grover's own construction of it, as shown by his (Grover's) letters written officially to the Land Department at Washington, as well as by the action of the State Land Commissioners, of which body Grover is a member.

First, Governor Grover in his official letter to the Secretary of the Interior, of November 9, 1871, says:

"In relation to all the swamp and overflowed lands in Oregon not reserved or sold or disposed of by the United States on March 12, 1860, the position of this State is, that by virtue of the Act of Congress granting a complete grant and an indefeasible title were vested in the State of the whole of those swamp and overflowed lands," * * * * * * *

And I respectfully ask your attention to be given to that class of the lands falling within the surveys approved since March 12, 1860, that the selections by the State may be recognized, and that patents issue to the State therefor."

Again, on the 10th of November, 1871, in his official letter to the General Land Commissioner, the Governor says:

On information that instructions have been given to the Register and Receiver of the Land Office at Oregon City, requiring them to suspend all action affecting swamp and overflowed lands in what is known as Wapato Lake, in Washington county, and Lake LaBish, in Marion county, Oregon, until the State shall have opportunity of presenting its claims for the same I herewith forward to you special lists evidencing the selection of said lakes claimed as the property of the State by virtue of the Act of Congress of March 12, 1860, duplicate copies of which have been forwarded to the Register at Oregon City.

Unquestionably what the Governor wanted "suspended" was the rights of settlers until the ring claimants could be secured and settlers driven in out of "the cold" And as further evidence of this fact, we give a copy of portions of Grover's official letter to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, bearing date January 6, 1872, in which he says:

I take this occasion to make the solicitation embraced in my letter of November 9th, last, addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, and by him referred to your office, that you would direct letters to be issued to the several Land Offices in Oregon requiring of them to take no action which will involve adverse possession of any of the swamp and overflowed lands while the question of Legislation is proceeding. I press this point in view of the fact that by broad settlements rights in the lines of unsurveyed swamps, have been established to the embarrassment of the title of the State

Now, I say, candid mind can put any other construction upon the above letters than that Gov. Grover claimed that the title of the State to swamp lands which had been settled on since March 12, 1860, was paramount, we can't see that the English language is capable of [illegible] Gen. And again, being State Swamp Lands, under the Act they were liable to be located as such by the "Ring," who, by having vested with this paramount title of the State, would as a legal consequence, oust the settlers upon such lands There is no avoiding this result The Board of Land Commissioners may make as many rules and by-laws, but the board cannot make or [illegible] the law, but it as well as land grabbers and "Rings" must be governed by the law as made by a higher power than Grover, Chief and Forney.

Having shown what the act contemplated according to Gov. Grover's own construction of it, we will now refer to the following [illegible] in Douglas county by actual [illegible] settlement, preemption and cash [illegible] which have been treated by the State authorities as swamp and overflowed; the list being signed by L. F. Grover, Governor, S. F. Chadwick, Secretary of State, and L. Fleischner, Treasurer of State, and filed with the Roseburg Land Office June 5th, 1872: In township No. 21, [illegible] 21 and 22, lands entered with cash by William Beal, August, 1868, and the United States patent issued to claimant. In section 23 of [illegible] land entered by John Wade, July 6, 1864, and U. S. patent issued to claimant in 1864. In section 9 of township above named, Thomas Cunningham, also in section No. 17, same township, cash entry by C. M. Clark In section 18, and same township, the homesteads of John Lyster and also of Marion Smith, entered five years ago, and in township No. 22, [illegible] entered with cash by Edward Breen. These claims reside upon the Umpqua and Smith rivers, in Douglas county, Oregon.

These facts are taken from the official records of the Land Office in Southern Oregon, and the Herald can have certified copies of the same by application at that office, and of Grover's official letters at the offices to which they were addressed. So it is no longer a question whether Attorney General Williams has misrepresented this matter or the Herald and Grover have been guilty of "premeditated falsehood, perpetrated wilfully and knowingly with the intent to deceive" the people, for the fact that the latter is true is evidenced by the foregoing over our Governor's own sign manual We perhaps ought to acquit the Herald of making its assertions knowingly, but as to Gov Grover, his own words in "black and white" corroborate and confirm the truth of General Williams position on the effect of this law, passed to put money in the pockets of its party favorites The Governor ought to remember that his official letters are not thrown into the waste basket at the Washington office, but are preserved, and may be brought up after he pretends to have forgotten, to furnish proof of his inconsistency and demagogism

The Cincinnati Gazette says there is now only one vigorous Democratic journal in New York, and that is the Tribune. It is cracking the Democratic party lash over the World, and accusing it of working to secure the re-election of Gen Grant

Blasted Hopes

The moon has scarce waxed and waned since the political conclave assembled at the great pork emporium Cincinnati and the laboring mountain brought forth the "ridiculous mouse" and called it Greeley and Brown With great expectations and high hopes the Democratic leaders who had plotted with discontented Republicans to open a way for their members to gain control of the Government looked forward to that gathering. These leaders saw that against a united Republican party they had no possible chance to contend successfully and they expected that the Cincinnati Convention would nominate candidates which the Democratic party could accept and that it would at the same time divide the Republican party Had this been accomplished as some of the Cincinnati Convention manipulators fondly hoped the Democratic party would once more have obtained a standing place and possibly have been restored to power in the government—not under its own old name, it is true,—but still it would have been restored, and for such great gain it was ready to make great sacrifices,—to give up its name, to ignore what has always been called its cherished principles, and permit the platform to be made by the comparatively small lot of dissatisfied Republicans, who were ostensibly at the head of the Cincinnati movement The so called Liberal Republican Convention did its work, and what is the result? The thing has operated like a boomerang and recoiled on those same Democratic leaders and the Republican party which was to be split, has been consolidated and a split is made in the Democracy which threatens to swallow up not only the leaders aforesaid, but also the entire organization of the Democratic party Greeley not only fails to carry off the expected large number of Republicans, but many even of those who were dissatisfied,—among them some of the members of the Convention which nominated him are disgusted, and the whole Republican party has the utmost contempt for him The movement has also made Grant master of the situation in his own party and such a fiasco as that at Cincinnati has done more to quiet opposition to his re-nomination than any other single circumstance possibly could have done No longer ago than last April there was some serious opposition to Grant's re-nomination and he stood ready, himself, to step aside if thereby the party might be made stronger and its chances of success heightened But after that affair at Cincinnati and before the Philadelphia Convention that opposition disappeared, and the Republicans of the nation almost as with one voice proclaimed for GRANT Such papers as the New York World, Cincinnati Times and Washington Patriot demand of the supporters of Greeley to show the capital they propose to bring into the new political copartnership. They ask, Where are the Republican papers which support Greeley, or do not support Grant? And Trumbull and White and Palmer and Tipton can count such papers on their ten fingers So far, then, as to the great defection, the awful split which was to be made in the Republican party, which instead of being disrupted and broken up by the Cincinnati Convention has been purified and strengthened by it And, as to the Presidency, there is no wavering in that party, no doubt, dissension or discord All elements are satisfied, and within the party all is harmonious and working smoothly and quietly for a grand and glorious victory in November Grant was nominated by acclamation at Philadelphia and with an enthusiasm which it would have been impossible to excite two short months ago the nomination has been ratified by the people in every State.

But it may be asked, what is the policy to be pursued by the Democratic party. Hon D W Voorhees, in his speech at Terre Haute, Indiana, a few days since, reiterating what he had said before, is an answer He shows that from a Democratic stand point no member of that party who regards principles as anything can support Mr Greeley, and he shows it so conclusively that it cannot be disposed of with a sneer To a large proportion of the Democratic party Mr Voorhees arguments will appeal with a force that is irresistable In his views he is far from standing alone, but the very brains of his party are with him, and so outspoken and determined are the leaders who oppose the nomination of Greeley at Baltimore that they must necessarily retire from the political field if he should be nominated. On the other hand the plot entered into by those Democratic leaders who favor him involves a great portion of the party, and these are already committed to his support So much so indeed as to render his endorsement at Baltimore largely probable, though there has been a reaction within the last twenty days which, should it continue to grow will bury him at Baltimore in July so deep that no political trumpet could ever call him up. However the nomination of Greeley at Baltimore, or his rejection, cannot but have a demoralizing effect upon the Democratic party, for as the case now is, that party will lose if it takes and lose if it rejects him By the "combination" of its leaders with sore-headed Republicans it has drawn an elephant So while its enemies are in a strait betwixt two trying to avoid the rocks of Scylla they find themselves running on the shoals of Charybdis the Republican party with a united front like a victorious army fresh from a field where it had taken its enemies first position without firing a gun is getting ready to walk over the course This great party has the prestige of success, principle and consistency on its side and as against those the American people will drive out of existence and beyond the hope of restoration a combination which has no other motto than anything to beat Grant"

The Settlement with England

Can anybody say why diplomatic business between two nations should not be conducted on the same principles of equity and fairness which are observed in business transactions between individuals? Why should not conferences be had and proper steps be taken to secure mutual understanding between nations as high contracting parties, when there are differences between them which require adjustment? It is too often supposed that the whole end of diplomatic negotiation is to enable one country to get an advantage over another in the matter which requires settlement This is a false position it is bad in practice and bad in morality Just now we are engaged in a controversy with Great Britain Too many of our people talk as if the sole object of it on our part were to overreach the English Government, and that if we do not succeed in doing this we shall be involved and sunk in "national disgrace" This is a very low view to take Because our Government proposes a supplemental article to the Treaty of Washington, which it is believed will clear up a misunderstanding as to the terms of the Geneva arbitration certain people with Anglo phobic notions cry out that it is a base surrender to England and a "disgrace of the United States In this new article there is no abandonment whatever of national interests It has been all along declared that our Government did not expect any award of money on the indirect claims The point at issue was whether those claims should be so treated as to establish a precedent for the guidance of the two countries in future Great Britain has made concessions in apologizing for her course during our civil war and in agreeing to submit the claims to arbitration I say that our Government should agree to no modification whatever which will serve to remove a misunderstanding that has arisen as to show a plentiful lack of good sense. In matters of grave business, men of sound judgment do not pursue such an obstinate and pig-headed course It is especially observable that most of the opposition to the supplemental article has come from other motives than a sincere solicitude for the best interests of the country It has sprung from a class who want to use it as a partisan matter and who subordinate everything else to considerations of party advantage. It is all important to reach an understanding on the subjects covered by the treaty of Washington, and to establish there by a new method of settling international differences On both sides there must be some concessions To say that America shall make none is to declare for a violation of the leading principle on which all treaties between equal nations are conducted, We do not believe the treaty of Washington will fail That it will be brought to a favorable termination and that it will result in an award of damages for losses inflicted by rebel cruisers may be taken as certain Better than all it will establish new principles of adjusting matters in dispute between nations, and will show that there is a better way than, on every provocation or difference, to appeal to the sword

The Dominion of Canada

The recent political history of Canada is interesting In the so-called maritime provinces of British America (Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edwards Island) resolved to form a Federal Union Delegates from these Provinces met September 1st 1864, in Charlottetown, to form a plan of confederation These were joined by representatives from Canada and finally on the 17th of October, a general conference was held at Quebec, which adopted a series of resolutions strongly favoring a Union of the various provinces of British America The Home Government responded favorably, and May 22d 1867, the Provinces of Canada Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, were by royal proclamation declared to be the Dominion of Canada' on and after the first day of July 1867

Ottawa was designated as the capital and provision was made for admitting the remaining provinces and Hudson's Bay Territory The Dominion as it now stands comprises a population of about 4 000,000 Each province under this federation has its local legislature like our own States and at the same time sends representatives to the Dominion Parliament This Parliament is composed of a Senate and the House of Commons The Senators are nominated for life by summons of the Governor General under the great seal of Canada. There must be 72 Senators, 24 from Ontario (Upper Canada) 24 from Quebec (Lower Canada,) 12 from Nova Scotia, and 12 from New Brunswick Each must be 30 years of age and have property to value of $4 000

The House of Commons is elected by the people at the rate of one representative for 17,000 persons The four provinces now send 181 members, 82 for Ontario, 65 for Quebec, 19 for Nova Scotia and 15 for New Brunswick

The franchise varies in the different provinces Nearly all have some property qualification Open voting prevails in Quebec Ontario and Nova Scotia In New Brunswick it is by ballot

The Executive is in the hands of a Governor General, appointed by the Home Government, assisted by 13 ministers, The ministry is responsible, and must yield to a vote of lack of confidence

The revenue of the Dominion for 1870 was $22,864,411, and expenditures $22,020,756

Arrangements are rapidly perfecting for adding to the Dominion the remaining provinces of British America, including Manitoba, (Hudson Bay Territory) British Columbia, Newfoundland and Prince Edward's Island We are in doubt whether the Union has been completely effected as yet Some of these provinces oppose it believing they will be engulphed by the larger ones

The present general system of Government in the Dominion, is not unlike our own and with a good "sendoff," a most excellent Republic might develop from the present Dominion, with an area as large as our own and a population larger than that with which we started out in 76

Fay on Grover

The Democrats of this State attribute their demoralized condition to various causes The Times of Jacksonville, it seems to us comes nearer giving the true reason than any of the rest In its issue of last Saturday it says

We unhesitatingly ascribe the disastrous defeat which has overtaken the Democracy of Oregon, to the pernicious course Governor Grover and his henchmen have seen fit to pursue

It does not stop here but goes on to denounce the Marion county ballot rings in the following caustic style

The Salem ring has always been noted for two things—first, the intermeddling spirit which impelled it to attempt to dictate the politics of every county in the State and the internal feuds and dissensions which it thereby created and secondly, the unvarying monotony of defeat which the political record of its own county presents While unable to make Marion county Democratic it has always insisted on managing the politics of other counties, and the result is, the Democratic party of Oregon is defeated

But the editor of the Times proceeds to some personalities in which he flatters his Excellency L F Grover and speaks thus hopefully of his said Excellency's political future

This election has not only buried Grover his Ring and his Administration, but has damned the whole caboodle besides His treachery to Delazon Smith in 1857 laid him on the shelf for ten years His treachery to the Democratic party in this campaign has given him an eternal quietus He deserves it He is to cold blooded to care for his friends [illegible] to care for anybody but himself to brainless to lead a great party and too cold to gain high minded [illegible] In fact as a politician he is so contemptible that even now as he lays in his ceremonial prepared for burial it would be ridiculous to murmur over his remains the last sad prayer of the church Requiescat in pace He is so dead there is not enough of him left to be restless

We should think that Fay as well as Grover had about wound up his career politically, as the whole party has gone to the dogs and for the life of us we can't see what they have now about which to quarrel Vale Possum! Vale Bedrocker

CITY.

ARRANGEMENTS.—The journals of California, and especially of San Francisco, have generally managed to sign on as far as possible the assistance of Oregon and Portland. Recently some of the most leading papers have assumed a different tone on the subject. The [illegible] of the 4th inst. says:

"The city of Portland, Oregon will go at large by the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad. For a time there was a prospect that a more northern route would be selected for the end of the road. But since it has been definitely settled that Portland is to be connected by the Northern Pacific its future commercial importance is well assured. The road from Puget Sound to Portland, a nearly complete one, and for the time being the Puget Sound country will be tributary to Portland.

"The Northern Pacific Railroad Company have recently bought out the interest of the Columbia river steamboat company including all boats plying on the upper waters of the Columbia. The last gap to be filled in the railroad will probably be that from Walla Walla to Portland but the railroad company will in the mean time control all the transportation through the river line of steamboats and will be able also to move its own supplies along to various points on the banks of the Columbia as may be needed in the construction of the road. Portland with the Northern Pacific Railroad and the California and Oregon road, and a good position on the river need have little concern for the future. There will be a large town on Puget Sound—the railroad monopoly will secure this result. But it is evident that no Puget Sound city will be built up at the expense of Portland."

MEETING EFFORTS.—The several committees appointed to make arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth have commenced work with a determination to accomplish the purpose for which they were chosen. The Committee on Fireworks have sent an order to San Francisco to have the required amount of fireworks manufactured there, to be held subject to the order of the Committee. The Committee on Invitations have had the invitations printed and are engaged in distributing them. A determination seems to exist to inaugurate a celebration which will be a credit and a success to the city. To secure this there must be a unity of purpose and a concerted action on the part of the committees and citizens. The latter will soon be called upon to contribute money toward the object. Unless our business men come liberally and promptly to the front in the matter, there can be no celebration. Sums spent in that direction cannot fail to prove a profitable investment to merchants and business men. If sufficient inducements are held out, and visitors from abroad come to this city to celebrate, it will be a decided advantage to all the leading branches of business. Merchants and others should view this subject in its proper light. Aside from all patriotic claims which the Fourth of July Anniversary has upon every American citizen, interest—that great lever to action—would decide that Portland should properly observe the day. Other portions of the State are talking to see what action, if any, the metropolis will take in the matter.

"THE THROUGH LINE."—This is the title of a railroad journal soon to be issued in this city by Colonel W. W. Chapman, the prospectus of which has just been laid on our table. The forthcoming sheet will be devoted—as says the prospectus before us—to the interests of railroads and kindred subjects and especially to the success of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad. The prospectus says: "We shall early discuss the subject of legitimate and reasonable State aid to the prosecution of the work, and as an indorsement of the importance of this deservedly popular enterprise. Preparatory to a renewal of our efforts at the next session of Congress, we shall fully discuss the national and local importance of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad, and through the instrumentality of The Through Line familiarize members of Congress and the American public with the subject in all its bearings. To the successful completion of the railroads now planned in the system of the Pacific Northwest, we shall give our hearty support in all that is fair and just, and especially shall we endeavor to keep alive and make useful that public sentiment in Oregon everywhere manifested in behalf of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad." The first issue will be issued on the 20th instant. It will be a 32-column journal, issued weekly [illegible] does not claim to enter the journalistic field further, but will restrict its efforts to [illegible] before unoccupied.

—Yesterday was without exception, the hottest day we have experienced this season. [illegible]ly a light zephyr sprang up and served to fan the intolerable heat a little more bearable. Pedestrians gravitated to the shady side of the walks or sought, at the corners, cooling drinks. The streets looked as though they would like to have had an invitation to "take something," and the sidewalks would fry out a salamander. Everybody felt hot and cross and ready to exclaim to his neighbor that the Webfoot climate is always prone to extremes of hot and cold." We might possibly have no further cynics here if the sultry breath of July was blended with bleak December, and a little of Monterey's chilliness mingled with scorching August. What a delightful climate that would produce! But then, some wretch would sigh for a zephyr from Greenland or a simoom from Africa. People will grow!

WIFE BEATING.—What ought the public to think of a man (?) who will deliberately chastise his wife? Well regulated society generally pronounces the cowardly wretch who raises his hand to a woman, save in the way of kindness and affection, on a level with the lowest order of brutes. Low indeed, must be that image of a man who, under any circumstances will whip his wife. But we regret to state that Portland has a few of such creatures. Yesterday a man was arraigned before Judge Denny on a charge of wife beating. He pleaded not guilty but was never[illegible] found guilty, and sentenced to pay five dollars and costs, which aggregate the modest sum of $21.

PORT ARRIVED.—The steamer California, which sailed from San Francisco for this port last week, has not yet arrived. She has been due for several days. Some fears are entertained that an accident has occurred to occasion the delay. The [illegible] was taken below for repairs, and she will be thoroughly overhauled before sailing. She may have sustained a breakage whereby the propeller was deprived of service, and in the case she will have to trust to the sails to reach the Bar. She has perhaps put in at Port Orford or Crescent City for coal, no telegraphic communication no other whatever have been received since her departure.

CONGREGATIONAL FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the First Congregational Church will give a strawberry and ice cream festival, and also an apron fair in the Church, corner of Yamhill and Seventh streets, on Thursday evening, June 13th. The advertisement appears in the proper column. The friends of the Church and the public will notice the change of place and time indicated, viz: Thursday evening instead of Wednesday, and at the Chapel. A pleasant evening is offered to all who may participate.

FALL.—One of the men employed on the new brick building of Capt. R. R. Thompson, fell from the scaffolding yesterday while fixing some roofing. He passed between the joists and landed on the floor below. One of his legs was severely bruised and the side of his face cut by a piece of timber.

COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT.—Miss Anna Mehlig will be tendered a grand complimentary benefit on next Friday evening by the numerous musical friends of the city. She will probably take her departure from the State on Saturday.

INSANE PATIENTS.—During the present week four patients have been added to the Insane Asylum at East Portland—a man from Grant county, one from Tillamook, a woman from Cross Keys and one from Multnomah.

COLUMBIA RIVER.—Yesterday at Wallula the Columbia rose five inches between 8 A. M. and 1 P. M. After 1 o'clock it did not rise any more.

DISPERSED OF.—Several cases of assault and battery and drunkenness were disposed of before Judge Denny yesterday morning.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court will convene on the 27th of this month for the transaction of county business.

PATIENTS.—There are now 43 female and 118 male patients confined in the Oregon Insane Asylum.

RECOVERED.—The body of young Roberts, who was drowned opposite the White House on the 2d inst., was found yesterday. The body had drifted down the river opposite the farm formerly owned by Judge Strong, and had risen to the surface. When discovered it was hanging to some brush near the shore. The remains were in an advanced stage of decomposition—so much so as to be almost past identity. The remains were brought to the city last evening, and will be interred to-day. All friends of the deceased are invited to attend the funeral obsequies.

PROBABLE FIRE.—Last evening, about eight o'clock, a dense volume of smoke was observed to darken the horizon on the eastern side of the river, and apparently about the vicinity of Milwaukie. Burning brush or timber even in very large quantities, would not be likely to produce such clouds of smoke. From indications, the supposition would be plausible that some or several large buildings were in flames. Nothing further is known and will not likely be until to-day.

LADIES' FESTIVAL.—During the last week the ladies of the First A. M. E. Zion Church of this city have been holding a fair on Third street, in Wilson's building. The fair has been well attended and liberally patronized. Last evening it closed by a grand festival and supper, which was attended by a number of ladies and gentlemen. We are unable to state the total receipts. The proceeds are to be applied towards the liquidation of the church indebtedness.

MORE RAIN.—As we go to press, the wind is piping strongly from the south, and the forked lightning is illuminating the gloomy sky, as a weather struck bard has sung, and some of those mild dews of Webfoot are softly descending to this thirsty region. Verily, one extreme presses closely on the heels of another but the present extreme is one that will throw our farmers into extacies and suit the panting Portlanders.

THE CONCERT.—The grand concert given last evening at the Masonic Hall by Miss Mehlig assisted by a number of lady and gentlemen musicians of the city, for the benefit of the Relief Society was largely attended. The programme in its most minute details was rendered in a manner to solicit the warmest applause. As a financial enterprise the concert was as successful as any which has been given this season.

BURIED.—Two Chinamen engaged in digging at the bluff on the east side of the river near the depot, were caught under a caving bank yesterday evening about 4 o'clock and instantly crushed to death. A large block of earth had been undermined and becoming detached before the two underneath could get out of the way, they were buried. At last accounts the bodies had not been extricated.

MOTION DENIED.—In the United States District Court, yesterday morning the application for a new trial in the case of M. S. Hart convicted of fraud was denied, and a motion entered to pass sentence on the defendant. Judge Deady sentenced him to six months' confinement in the County Jail. Hart was placed in custody of the jailor yesterday immediately after sentence, by Marshal Young.

BY TRAIN.—The following quantities of freight were brought down yesterday by train: 10,000 lbs mdse, 50 furs, 1 car flour, 4 cars wheat, 3 sacks feather, 80 lbs eggs, 3,450 lbs dried apples, 20 sheep pelts, 2,487 lbs hides, 9,000 lbs wool, 100 lbs chickens.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—The United States District Court convened yesterday morning. No further business was transacted besides sentencing of M. S. Hart as previously related. The Court adjourned until Thursday next, 13th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M.

INSTALLATION ACCEPTED.—At a meeting of Columbia Engine Co. No. 1 held last evening it was unanimously resolved to accept the invitation extended by the General Committee of Arrangement, and parade on the ensuing Fourth.

BILLS RETURNED.—The Grand Jury returned two bills of indictment in the Circuit Court yesterday—State of Oregon vs. A. J. Moses, forgery; State of Oregon vs. G. W. Butler, adultery.

The steamer Hyades arrived from the Cascades much earlier than usual yesterday afternoon. She brought a light Eastern paper mail—which was in a sorry condition—overland from Kelton, Utah.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

TUESDAY, June 10—12 M.

Stephen Houser and wife vs. Arthur Miller: demurrer to answer overruled and plaintiff allowed until Friday, June 14th, to file their reply.

Charles Truax vs. N. Goodman et al.: action on a promissory note: non-suit entered and allowed.

The grand jury presented two bills of indictment.

C. H. Myers, a juror excused for the term.

Nancy Allen vs. James Allen: suit for divorce referred to O. N. Denny, Police Judge, to take testimony.

Augusta M. Fisher vs. J. P. O. Lowndale et al.: decree to quiet title.

People's Transportation Company vs. Salem Flouring Mill: verdict for plaintiff for $ 01 42.

DRAMATIC.—'Retribution' and 'Betsey Baker,' was rendered again last evening at Oro Fino Theater. We regret that the merits of the pieces and the excellence of the rendition deserves a more liberal patronage from this public. However the attractions of the concert drew many away who would have probably attended. This evening will be offered Tennyson's beautiful poem of Dora, in which Mr. Waldron will assume the character of "Farmer Allan." The evening's performance will close with a song and dance by Mrs. Annie Fulford and Miss Minnie Pixley.

A CHEAP TICKET.—We understand that the Republicans of East Portland propose to hold a meeting this evening for the purpose of placing in the field a clear Republican ticket for the several city offices to be filled at the election on the 17th inst. The Republicans of that place have come to the conclusion that there is some truth in the old Colonial saying of "Taxation without Representation," and they propose having some voice in the management of the municipal government for the future.

CUBIC YARDS.—About seven hundred yards—cubic—are brought down daily by the gravel train on the West Side. At that rate Couch's Lake is losing its dimensions quite rapidly.

THE RESTAURANTS AND FAMILIES desiring the freshest Salmon, Clams and other Fish should remember Seaman & Clark's New Market, Front street, between A and B streets, where they keep only the best.

BRANCHING OUT.—Persons living in the southern part of the city have certainly observed an innovation at 145 First street, between Yamhill and Taylor. This change has been made by Quinn, the well known dealer in Fish, Game and Poultry, who opened this stand as a branch establishment, where at all times full supplies of everything in his particular line can be found. As it is old stand—Washington street between First and Second—the usual supply of Fish, Game and Poultry can be had at any time. Orders left at either place will be promptly filled.

INFORMATION.—When one purchases an article it invariably pays to spend time and take a little trouble to find the best place to buy. It is to this an expensive and in the end an annoying, practice to buy at the first place one comes to. But the reader can save much trouble perhaps when he is informed that Jos. Kohn & Co., 91 Front street, sell fine Clothing, for [illegible] that are not what they represent them to be. Therefore square dealing is at such a premium as to full satisfaction in [illegible].

THE UMATILLA HOUSE at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed. The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State, and the dining hall is one in fact. The rooms are all new furnished. The house has twelve suits of rooms with stoves in them for families. The new house stands much higher than the old one. The ceilings are four feet higher which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms. The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

TRUNKS before going home step into that well known Clothing House of J. O'Neil & Co. and leave your order for a suit of summer clothing and depend upon it, entire satisfaction will be given. While there examine their excellent stock of furnishing goods. The prices are so low that no person need trouble themselves about calling elsewhere for better bargains. Don't pass by First street when you have occasion to buy anything in their line. O'Neil & Co. will not be undersold by any house in town.

A PERFECT FIT.—At the emporium of fashion of Bishel & Roberts a cutter from New York City has arrived and is prepared to manufacture those desiring a fine suit in the neatest and latest style. As this firm has a fine assortment of cloths, and some of the best cutters in the coast, the purchaser can be assured everything that is desirable to make a suit complete in every detail. When you're minded to buy clothing or furnishing goods remember the southwest corner of Washington and First streets.

Excitement in Court.

THE ARRAIGNMENT OF STOKES SAVAGE SPARRING BETWEEN COUNSEL—A REMARKABLE SCENE.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The scenes in the Oyer and Terminer Court to-day preparatory to the arraignment of Edward S. Stokes were exciting. At an early hour in the morning the halls and corridors began filling with those eager to get into the court room and witness the proceedings, but despite their clamor the doors were kept closed until 10 o'clock, at which hour as many as could find seats and standing room in the aisles were admitted. They entered with a rush and filled every available place in a moment. The usual number of eminent lawyers filled the bar inclosure. The prisoner was ushered in at an early hour from the side door, attended only by his brother, and took his seat by Hon. John McKeon, his sole counsellor. He was dressed precisely as on the previous day, and seemed equally nervous and frightened. His face wore the same ghastly smile wh u looking upon anybody he knew, and he was careful to bow to everybody whom he recognized. His venerable father came in a few minutes later and took a seat behind him. His brothers, as on the previous day, were restlessly flitting about, in and out of the room, whispering to the prisoner or his counsel, and then disappearing as though on some errand. While awaiting the arrival of the Judge, Mr. McKeon unrolled a ponderous bundle of manuscript which he handed to Stokes, calling his attention to the closing paragraph. Stokes read the paragraph, then rose and approached the table, and with a trembling hand affixed his signature to it. He then resumed his seat, and Mr. McKeon carefully rerolled the manuscript and secured it with a rubber band.

At precisely 10:40, Judge Ingraham took his seat on the bench, and the court was formally opened. Mr. Sparks, the Clerk, proceeded to call the roll of petit jurors, and the Judge occupied his time in glancing over his correspondence. These preliminaries fini hed, the business of the day was announced. The crowded audience became quiet and attentive in a moment. Every ear was strained to hear all that might be said.

District Attorney Garvin.—I am ready to proceed in the case of Edward S. Stokes.

Mr. McKeon.—I have a plea which I hand to the Clerk of the court to be put on file. Mr. McKeon handed to the Clerk the ponderous manuscript, which had been signed by Stokes, and which was endorsed "The People against Edward S. Stokes. Indictment for murder. Special plea in bar." The manuscript covered several quires of legal cap paper.

Judge Ingraham.—State what it is before it is filed.

Mr. McKeon.—I am not required to do that.

Judge Ingraham, with some feeling.—I think the Court has the right to know what the paper is before it is filed.

Mr. McKeon, with some earnestness.—Is not the Clerk the one through whom the Court and the District Attorney are to know its contents? It is filed with him. The law allows us in criminal cases to take that course.

Judge Ingraham. You can act your own pleasure.

Mr. McKeon.—I decline to state what it is. It is there on file for the District Attorney to see what it is.

District Attorney Garvin arose slowly and deliberately and addressed the Court, manifesting in every motion and tone the utmost indignation at the course pursued. He said: If the court please, this is somewhat peculiar in everything that pertains to it. The murder was peculiar——

Mr. McKeon, interrupting.—Now, Mr. District Attorney, every time this case is referred to, reference to murder and atrocity has to be brought in. If this case is to be tried by the newspapers I will try it that way. If it is to be tried according to legal formula, let it be so tried.

The District Attorney.—When the gentleman is called upon as counsel in a proper manner to make a statement as to what his plea is, he is dumb. He says nothing when the Court respectfully requests him to state the contents of his plea, which, perhaps, consists of a long sermon or oration, nobody knows what. He says not a word. When the other side proposes to say anything he always interrupts. He has had five counsels to aid him in doing that until they got tired and left. What I was about to say was that this is a peculiar case. The murder was a strange one.

The District Attorney recited the various proceedings thus far, and proceeded: The argument upon the demurrer to the special plea was that the prisoner answer over to the indictment. Now, sir, when I come into Court, representing the people, and ask him to plead to the indictment, another plea is interposed of a magnitude which your Honor can have a little idea of by looking at the quantity of paper used.

The District Attorney here took the bulky plea from the Clerk, and opening it held it up by one leaf to the gaze of the Court. He continued: I don't object to this thing being done, but I do say it is an unfair and improper course for the counsel to pursue when he puts in a plea which it has taken himself and his associates six weeks to draw up, and then when the Court requests him to state the substance of the plea, says, "I have filed my plea, and I say nothing. I put this paper before the Court, and you cannot find out the best you can what it is." On the part of the gentleman he is dealing with the prisoner at the bar, and I say further, that when this case comes into court of justice, his hands will be with blood to the shoulders, and if the ends of this disscription, it becomes him to speak out and put himself on the record like an honest prisoner who desires to have his case investigated in a proper way. If he is not guilty of this crime, let him say so. He can fold his hands and say not guilty, and we are bound to make out a case against him. But this everlasting delay would not be so objectionable were it not from the fact of the manner in which the case is so carefully presented to the Court. The gentleman understands perfectly well that no man can take up upon the plea until he has counsel. Of course, to decide what course to take in reference to it involves a thorough examination and comprehension of everything that is included in it. I don't blame the gentleman for taking the course he does, but certainly he ought to stand up like a man and say what his plea is, so that we can either demur or have to strike out. The other course of course, involves delay. Your Honor will see the necessity of the matter standing over for a day or two, or three. I say that I am amazed—I am astonished at the course taken by the counsel on the other side. He has preceded me honorably as public prosecutor, and he understands something of the difficulties under which the public prosecutor labors.

Mr. McKeon gets a shot at the conclusion of the District Attorney's remarks.

Mr. Keon arose, with fire in his eyes, and proceeded to reply. He spoke with more earnestness of manner than is usual with him, and shook first one and then both fists at the Public Prosecutor in a way that to a stranger would have seemed very threatening. He said: "The District Attorney has had an opportunity of making a harangue. I will not allow him or any other man to teach me my duty. There was a tone of insolence to his remarks which rather aroused my feelings. He has no right—(vehemently)—he has no right to speak to me in this manner, when, as the mere instrument of the ring, he got an indictment against this man with Josie Mansfield, which he dare not bring to trial, why, he does not stand in a condition to be independent.

Here the speaker became so choked with passion as to articulate with difficulty. His voice trembled and his voice became confused. He continued: And he, the tool of these men, to talk to me about risking the life of my client. He that dare not be independent talking to me in this way, and if the gentleman has not the capacity to know whether that plea is good or bad, let him resign his position. There is a plea drawn by able men which I have examined and concur in. I doubt what I would do up to the last moment, but on the solicitations of men of ability, I have come to the conclusion to put it in; and I am told I am trifling with my client's life. There is a plea on file. It cannot be taken off except by order of the Court. No power on earth can take it except by such order, and I believe no Court will order that it be taken off. I asked you for a few days the other day for the purpose of consultation. It was denied me. There is the paper. He can demur on the issue at once. I am ready to argue with him at once, whether it is good or bad. I am ready to go on and put matters in a condition where there will be an issue, but I will not allow any man to talk to me in this manner. If he wants to make a personal issue with me I am ready for it. I have lived too long in this community to permit any man to say I have risked the life of my client. I have defended many a man's life, and never lost one. I have never engaged in a case that I did not believe in the integrity and innocence of my client. I am not a mere hireling to defend every man. I believe this man has a good defence. I am endeavoring in every way as his counsel to throw barriers around him. I am indebted to the ability of other men for this plea. I will allow no man, much less the District Attorney, to insult me in that manner, and to say I am trading with the Court and the life of a fellow-creature, when I use the talents of distinguished men in whose ability and industry I believe, to present a plea. Let him answer or demur to that.

Here the District Attorney rose, but the Judge, who was fearful of a personal collision, ordered both parties to sit down.

Mr. McKeon varied his performance by insinuating that the Judge was a liar, to which the Judge paid no attention.

The case was then adjourned till to-morrow, to give the District Attorney time to go through the plea. The counsel sat down and looked at one another, while the Court proceeded to hear other business.

The prisoner was soon after removed by the side door and returned to the Tombs. The crowded audience followed as soon as permitted to retire, and the excitement terminated. The feeling against Stokes in the city is very bitter.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.--1860--X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Beautiful Woman.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM gives to the Complexion the Freshness of Youth.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM overcomes the flushed appearance caused by heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes the lady of forty appear but twenty, and no natural and perfect test can detect its application. By its use the roughest skin is made to rival the pure radiant texture of youthful beauty. It removes redness, blotches and pimples. It contains nothing that will injure the skin in the least.

MAGNOLIA BALM is used by all fashionable ladies in New York, London and Paris. It costs only 75 cents per bottle, and is sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.
